Report of the President for 1946

The Audubon Association of the Pacific has had a full year of programs and field trips as well as an increase of twenty-four new members and the renewal of two memberships. The attendance of the meetings has increased.

The nucleus of the Audubon Association of the Pacific Library was started with the presentation by Miss Mary Richards of the bird books belonging to her late sister, Miss Elizabeth M. Richards, a member of the Association. Mr. Laurence J. Clarke, City Librarian, accepted the books for the San Francisco Public Library and had the collection suitably marked with book plates carrying the name of the Audubon Association of the Pacific and that of the donor. The books are on the open shelves and available to the members and the public.

Miss Alice S. Mulford, Curator of the Oakland Public Museum, opened the first meeting in the museum auditorium with the October meeting of the Audubon Association. This first East Bay meeting for the membership was a conducted tour of the museum and a study of the bird collection.

Dr. Robert C. Miller, Director of the California Academy of Sciences, Dr. Jean M. Linsdale, Director of the Hastings Reservation, and Mr. Robert C. Walker, Director of the San Francisco Junior Museum, presented their educational programs to the members during the year.

The first trip to Livermore since the war was taken to study the Phainopepla. All of the bus tickets were sold and the trip was very successful.

The president wishes to thank the members of the committees for their work in carrying out the details of the organization. The editorship of The Gull, carried on ably during the war by Miss Clelia A. Paroni, was accepted by Miss Grace Irene Crowe upon Miss Paroni's resignation. Mrs. Junea W. Kelly edited the bird observations. Mrs. Joseph Grinnell and Mr. Walter W. Bradley arranged fine and varied lecture programs for the monthly meetings.

The members regret the loss of three members by death, Mr. Charles S. Cushing, Miss Elizabeth M. Richards and Mr. Albert B. Stephens.

The president wishes to thank Mr. Arthur H. Myer for conducting the Lake Merritt Census and Mr. Herman V. Lefler for organizing the Christmas Census.

Respectfully submitted,

Jean Bradford Fay, President.
